REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

To the School Committee and Citizens of the Town of Leyden:—

The report herewith submitted covers the fiscal year, 1933 and is the ninth report of the present superintendent.

The five schools of the town have been run as usual but with a somewhat smaller number of pupils. A beginning of consolidation was ordered to begin with the winter term, in 1934. The West School is now closed, the pupils being carried to the Center School. By this move the number of pupils in the Center is increased so that there will be a larger number in each grade. The result will be better interest and progress. It was the wish of the Committee to close the East School but the earnest request of the people in that part of the town was respected and the school is now open and running. The question of proper transportation from that place down over the hill was an important factor in the decision.

The same corps of teachers was employed this year as in the year previous. They are earnest, enthusiastic, their work is thoroughly planned and well carried out. The results are satisfactory as shown by the work of those pupils who go to High School. Each year a larger percentage of our pupils attend High School and this number will continue to include nearly all who graduate each June. It is definitely agreed that no person will be employed until after he has become sixteen years of age. A move, backed by the American Federation of Labor and having the support of the Federal Government, is now in effect to raise the mandatory age for attendance at school to eighteen. This will, naturally, raise the number of pupils eligible to attend High School. Even if this move should fail at present, it must succeed before long as the "Machine Age" develops more and more.

Just as a suggestion for consideration by the citizens of Leyden, I will submit this scheme. Make the Center School a three-room building in which all the pupils of the town may be consolidated. Include nine grades, covering the work now given in the present schools and also the Ninth or last grade of the Junior High School. The pupils would then finish High School in three years.

There has been a very small amount of sickness during the year. Doctor and nurse have done excellent preventive work so that strong bodies will necessarily be the inheritance of our pupils.

Textbooks and supplies have been supplied to the pupils in essential quantities so that nothing would be lacking in their school work. About the same amounts will be required for the present year. In all our expenditures we are assured of the continuance by the State Educational Department of their reimbursement of much the larger part of the cost of the schools leaving a very small part to be raised by taxation of local property.

The decrease in number of pupils in all the schools is a deplorable fact but is general all over our country. There is a large increase in the upper grades and in High School, which more than offsets the decrease in the lower grades. There is, therefore, a net increase in numbr of pupils which will pass away in a few years. Meanwhile, we are faced with the problem of caring for this increase. The number of Leyden pupils in High School is out of proportion to the number in the grades but this will rectify itself in a short time. Meanwhile, we must anticipate either an increase in the lower grades or a consolidation of schools in a central building.

Respectfully submitted,

L. W. ROBBINS,

Supt. of Schools.
